Accessibility in the Classroom

2010 marks the 20th anniversary of the American with Disabilities Act. Join us for the first 2010-2011 Brown Bag Lunch session to discuss new tools and services that support accessibility for your students. Presenters include the Office of Disability Services, Adaptive Computing Technology Center, ET@MO, University Bookstore and MU Libraries. Bring your lunch and learn about resources available to ensure all of our students have the tools for their academic success. The Brown Bag Lunch Series is sponsored by ET@MO, MU Libraries, Mizzou Media, and University Bookstore.

Open Access Content

Digital technology is changing the way you and your students obtain and use information. Open access content can provide an important information resource in your classroom and your research. Wondered what open access content means, how it can be used and what steps you need to take to utilize open access content? Bring your lunch and join the MU Libraries, University Bookstore, and ET@MO at this month's Brown Bag Lunch session to discuss what open access is and how the content can be used to support your teaching and research. The Brown Bag Lunch Series is sponsored by ET@MO, MU Libraries, Mizzou Media, and University Bookstore.

Different Places, New Learning Spaces

The definition of a traditional classroom has changed drastically in the last 20 years. Today's students can take classes around the world via satellite or can engage with one another via chat rooms on a course website. Join this month's Brown Bag Lunch and discuss how learning spaces are changing and the resources that can help support a successful experience for you and for your students. Bring your lunch and learn about the 21st century classroom and its evolution! The Brown Bag Lunch Series is sponsored by ET@MO, MU Libraries, Mizzou Media, and University Bookstore.
