- HSL enabling project to create work room and storage closet in current shelving room; relocate training room to second floor; relocate staff.
- HSL phase one of first floor to make space for anesthesiology offices – work to begin in May.

RELATED FACILITIES PROJECTS

- Collections moves being planned in cooperation with Iron Mountain.
- HSL – phase two: No timeline. Would involve moving collection out of compact shelving.
- Informational item: March 3 – Teaching 4 Learning Center to move in.
- Kathy is managing several facilities projects that she will report on in subsequent SAG meetings.

TASK FORCE RECOMMENDATIONS

- 1) Continue our contracts with Elsevier and other publishers for the foreseeable future, while negotiating the best deals that will ensure access to journals needed for research. (2019 and forward)
- 2) Establish a System-level group of faculty members and librarians, perhaps linked to the A&OER program, to promote Open Access publishing and to educate faculty and other researchers (Note that most of the actions listed below would be the responsibility of the new group); (2020 and forward)
- 3) Establish a System-level fund to assist faculty members with Author Publishing Fees (APCs) that would result in Open Access publications and encourage faculty members to consider budgeting funds for Open Access publications in grant submissions; (2020 and forward)

- 4) Inform faculty about Open Access publishing opportunities, including institutional repositories, and retaining copyright for their published work; (2020 and forward)
- 5) Encourage departments to consider publications in appropriate Open Access venues in Promotion and Tenure Committee evaluations;

- 6) Monitor and publicize Open Access journal impact factors to identify the titles with the greatest potential for advancing research;
- 7) Investigate opportunities and faculty interest in developing UM-based Open Access, peer-reviewed journals.

Library Society Reception, April 23 – featuring Lynden Steele and Picture of the Year International

Unbound Book Festival, April 25 – Friends will have a table and John Fifield will present on “books as art”.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY

SAN JOSE STATE UNIVERSITY

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, BERKELEY

THE STUDENTS' THOUGHTS

“The most important lesson, for me, from this trip was the usefulness of open dialogue. The tours and sightseeing of facilities was intriguing, but when we could exchange in honest and open conversation about programs and facilities, the magic of innovation and growth occurred.”—Lane Cargile

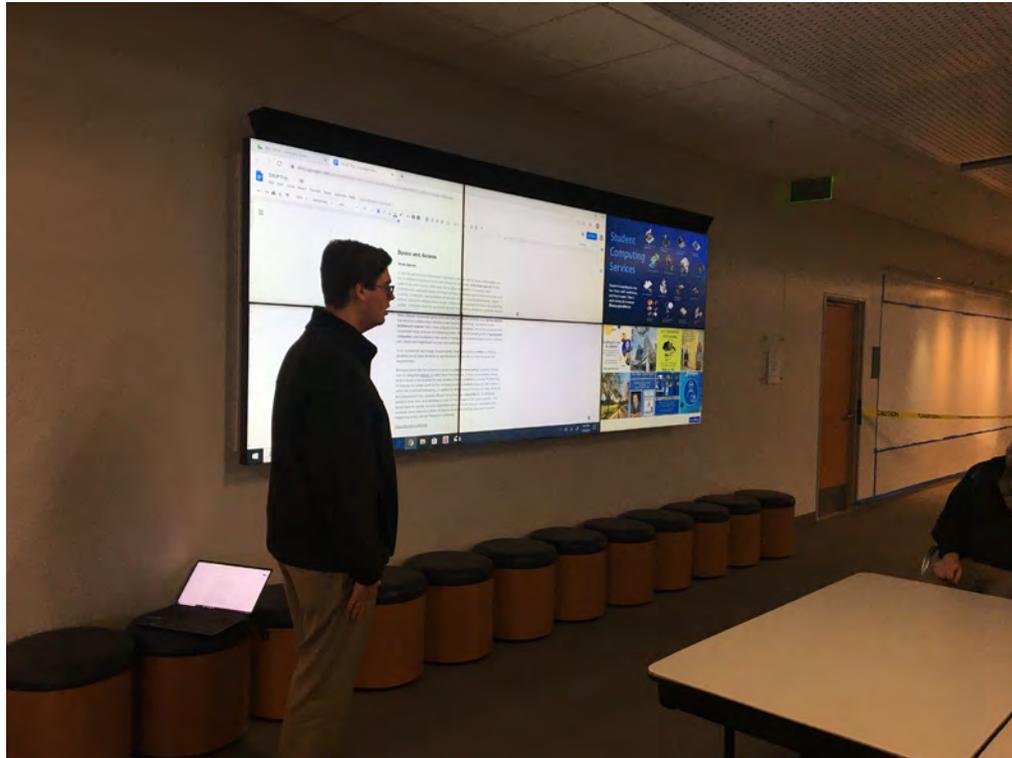

“The trip is definitely in my top five favorite Mizzou experiences! It was such an amazing opportunity visiting campuses like Stanford & Berkeley because I would have probably never had that opportunity otherwise. I appreciate that the trip had a purpose, to revise the student vision, and that purpose was always our number one priority.”—Saige Bexten

“The most important thing the trip to California trip taught me was that even among ‘great Libraries,’ the existence of ULSAC, and the MU Libraries' support for the council, is unique and valuable. Many librarians seem to be impressed with how involved members of ULSAC are in working to improve the services of the Libraries, and this has strengthened my commitment to seeing the council succeed and continue to create partnerships between students and the Libraries.” --Mathew Swan

“The opportunity to find out how very different institutions design and manage their libraries was too good for me to pass up! Since ULSAC is about student input for our libraries, it is vital for us to have an understanding of what is possible. I wanted to be a part of experiencing some of those possibilities.” --Levi Dolan
